This is it! The conference meet, which we have been building up all season for. For some this will be their last race of the season, and for others, it will be the springboard for the championship phase of the season. Regardless, we need to be ready mentally and physically to do our best.

Compete with passion, compete with heart, and compete with the same determination you have had all season long. This matters in the middle of the race when the going gets tough. Let's run like VIKINGS! Remember that you are not alone in this goal, and that you have teammates to work with towards a common goal. Remember that you are running for more than just yourself; you are running for GVXC! And of course, Run Happy! If you can do all this, it is bound to be a great meet for you and GVXC!
